Crashed Window Steals 4 Watches From Display Stock

Sometime in the early morning hours of Friday, someone picked up a heavy stone, and crashed in the plate glass window of the Jewelers' store on Northwest on Fifth Street, shattering the window. The unknown party stole from the window four valuable watches and an electric clock, and then sped his way down toward the street of negro town. Neighbors heard the crash of rock and glass, but the Raysheds did not hear it, and did not know what had happened. The store opened in the morning.

Diligent search has been made to locate the alleged $35,000, which Bacon was supposed to have secured and had in his possession, but to meet certain bank obligations.

Saves were opened under court orders, but in none of these cases were any funds located. Scrutiny of claims carried by Bacon, and others put up with banks for collection, has been made, but there were of doubtful value. It was also uncovered that the company was owing at least $100 to various banks, as well as the figures still mounting. Stiff Schedule For Rams Basketball Games

Belle Glade's high school has been more noted for the football team, but has played the gridiron, then it has for the basketball games, which it has played on the gym floor. However, the schedule usually comes up with a pretty good squad of court players, and the other two to give other conference teams a battle for the victories.

Athletic Directors Cooke and Leonard, have their recurring out working job to get in form for the season, and this ought not to be too big a task to do, as the team has been the same that lined up on the football field. Beans Take Toward Swing Celery, Broccoli, Cabbage In Market

Favorable weather the past week, as well as some advance in produce prices, and good pickings, has caused more hope in the minds of the growers and packers, that perhaps the fall crop season, might not be as doleful financially, as had been forecast some ten days ago.

While there is sufficient moisture in the fields, yet, some wetness from the sky is needed to aid the growing crops. Packers estimate that the peak of the fall season has been reached, and there will be a good falling off of outdoor-grown and truck shipments. There was a big softening in the bean market during the week, all grades of beans showing some advance, and there were too many canner and quick freeze consignments going out by trucks. Black Valentines sold for as high as $3.20 during the week, and other varieties ranged from $2.00 to $2.75.

The past week saw celery, cabbage and escarole shipments from the Duda and South Bay. Golden celery of very excellent quality was handled by the A. Dues. Some packing companies, with demand good, at $5.00 a crate. Dues have around 250 crates.

OBSERVATION and Comment By John M. Gledhill

With the placing of Venetian blinds on the windows of the council auditorium in the city hall, better light effects are obtained, and some of the acoustic defects are overcome, and they also give the hall a tidy home like appearance. When the new public speaking system is installed, commissioners and audience alike will be benefited with better communication service.

When the city commissioners decided to purchase additional street or road equipment, they made a good investment, which will bring articles of lower prices for improvement. The city has a handy rock pit from which street rock can be obtained. The use of labor cut down high labor costs, and new equipment hastens the work. Streets which have not been paved will be better.

There's something about Christmas that touches even the most hardened cynic in the air that you can't get in any other time of the year. People are kind and generous for the big day. Activity abounds in every city and town. There's a black Van Dyke on Mr. S. and his right, tell us there isn't any Santa Claus—but he's not here to prove it to the people on the streets of our town. Most Building Material Still Scarce and High in Prices.

W. W. Weeks, of the Glades Appliance Corporation, in conversation concerning building costs remarked, "With the exception of the lower grades of lumber, building supplies continue to be short, at still advancing prices. Good lumber is purchasable if the dealer and builder is willing to pay the price."

All steel items continue to show shortages. Roofing and roofing materials are available; nails are expensive, cement product prices continue to be critical. With these conditions prevailing, the builder must decide for himself the wisest plan of proceeding with his project plan."

The promoters of the "Welcome Wagon" are planning to erect a building for the lower grades of lumber, building supplies continue to be short, at still advancing prices. Good lumber is purchasable if the dealer and builder is willing to pay the price.

All steel items continue to show shortages. Roofing and roofing materials are available; nails are expensive, cement product prices continue to be critical. With these conditions prevailing, the builder must decide for himself the wisest plan of proceeding with his project plan."

 cared for in their turn.

It is rather startling how youngsters can catch the spirit of the season and doings of their elders. Cousin Cooke, Hobson and Prof. Davidson, prepared and packed their hunting duffle in the presence of the Fourth street youngsters. Next day I heard a rolling caravan coming down the street, and the kids presented their concept of a hunting trip and needed paraphernalia even to the hunting dogs. They went on the "wilds" too, and soon they came back hauling in their carts, a giant teddy bear and smaller replicas of same representing their deer and bear hunting prowess. They brought back more make believe game than their elders did of real meat.

Football players will be given recognition by the combined Belle Glade-Pahokee Lions Club with a banquet which will be given on the evening of December 16th. This is a recognition of the boys even though they did lose the final game to their arch foes the Blue Devils.

Well, we are now living in December the last month of 1948, and we are thankful that we are. Every day life is pleasant to experience, and when the year is shocked up we find that the good Lord has been good to us. Friendships are fine possessions, for out of them come much of our joys.

The active season of Boy and Girl Scout troops is now on, and headed by competent instructors and leaders, the troops should make good progress and record. These are groups from which come our future citizens, and it is here that the foundation of such citizenship is taught. If we have a lot to give to charitable work, why not apply it to helping out the scout work? The pow-wow which Scouts held at the Legion hall last Friday night, was a good and profitable one.

Did you go down and patronize the Legion carnival? Did you carry home a souvenir of a doll a bear, a cane or many of the other articles awarded for special skills? An individual or group can get a lot of innocent amusement and entertainment out of such a visit.

You have heard the old expression "Tight as a Clam". Well that term applied to the law officers in their investigation of the death of Robert Bacon. There were so many angles to the case that the officers had to be sure of their footing, before they made any statements that would enter in a legal hearing. But, before the coroner's jury, they gave plenty of information, in the sadist like hearing. Curiosity was working over time, judging by the crowd which jammed into the auditorium to hear the progress of the case. The jurors were more than attentive in the performance of their important duties in this case which had unusual features.

I have heard many excellent musical programs but seldom one that excited the numbers put on by the representatives from the Conservatory of Music from Stetson College at Deland, who appeared before the Press Association at Mt. Dora. The news writer group certainly gave them a good hand and the artists busy in demand encore numbers. Sure was some melodious music we heard.

See where the President received six turkeys from various sources for his Thanksgiving celebration. Lots of poor subjects like myself did not even get the smell of a chicken. Maybe Santa might bring me a "bird" at Christmas time. Yes or no, anyway I like good roast beef or pork, which does make good eating.

"B" Club Initiates New Members

The Let's man's Club, known as the "B" Club is a new club which was started at the beginning of the school year by several of the better football players. They are: Jerry Cone, Alvin Leathers, Thomas Williams, Billy Joe Leathers, Harry Daggett, Howard Hill, Lee Burke, D. C. Noyes, Kenneth Bass, Jim Buck Jayfield, Harry Farmer, Charles Miller and Vance Greer. An initiation was held Monday for five new members who are: Ross Wynn, Junior Walker, Billy Burke, Travis Poole, and Joe Revels. Part of the initiation was held at school Monday and the rest at the meeting which was held Monday night. They had to wear short pants, an old straw hat, and come barefooted to school and also anything else the other members told them to do. Each member got to hit them twice with a paddle and if by sundown they had not been hit they got four licks instead of the usual two. They were ordered to do some strange things such as ride up and down on a horse yelling hi-yo silver, Junior Walker and Billy Burke were seen riding up and down the road at noon on a horse singing, "Home On The Range".

House of Magic Show Shown Students
 The General Electric presented a "House of Magic" show to the students Thursday during sixth period. It was a science show of mysterious demonstrations that were really not magic at all but some of the marvelous things that research in electricity. The "House of Magic" showed some of these, how they worked, and how they are being used today. It was a combination of entertainment and information and was very educational. The name, "House of Magic" originated with the late Floyd Gibbons, famous author and lecturer. Gibbons was so impressed with the unusual things he saw in the General Electric Research Laboratory that he called it the "House of Magic". In the beginning, the expression referred only to the Laboratory. But assembled into a show, the name seemed even more appropriate. And so the show was transferred the name "House of Magic".

Christian will now devote his entire time and efforts to his Clewiston agency.

Football Game Income Gives Each School Over $500 Apiece

Football does bring in dollars, especially when the games are played between Pahokee and Belle Glade. Computations of income for the recent Thanksgiving eve game at Lair Field, shows that gross receipts were $2271.00. Expenditures, however, were: Federal taxes, $454.00; officials, $80.00; lights, $18.00. Both schools will receive in excess of $800.00 from this one game. Belle Glade entertains in 1948.
